Funded by Law Foundation of Ontario, Access To Justice Fund

NEW

EQUAY-WUK WORKSHOP UPDATE

AUGUST 2014

Increasing our Knowledge, Building on our Strengths

The project will train a variety of First Nations community services workers, including drug and alcohol workers, community health workers, and domestic violence workers in 31 remote First Nation communities. The training will consist of legal information related to violence against women and human rights. Using a range of innovative and creative strategies including video conferencing, radio programs, and community newspaper articles, as well as workshops that coincide with planned and funded bi-annual conferences, the project will train at least 50 front-line workers and an additional 20 elders who live and work in remote communities in northwestern Ontario. This Poster will be uploaded and shared through the Equay-wuk website: www.equaywuk.ca

Interested people can email our office for details or call our office, please see Contact Us.

First Nation Communities Served (map)

Things change, so be flexible.

Work smart and work hard.

Serve others well.

Be nice to others.

Be optimistic.

Have goals; want something big for yourself.

Stay focused.

Keep learning.

Become excellent in job.

Trust your gut.

When in doubt, take action.

Give all you can.

Enjoy all you've got.
